Empowering Athletes Through Evidence-Based Nutrition

As a performance sports dietitian and health coach, I specialize in helping athletes unlock their full potential through strategic nutrition and sustainable habits. My practice focuses on optimizing sports performance, proper fueling strategies, and building healthy eating behaviors that last beyond competition day.

My insights on nutrition have been featured across multiple media outlets, positioning me as a trusted voice in the sports nutrition space with an engaged audience of dedicated athletes.

What I Bring to Brand Partnerships: I'm passionate about connecting my audience with brands that genuinely support their athletic goals and nutritional needs. Through authentic partnerships, I help brands reach dedicated athletes who are actively seeking quality products and services to enhance their performance and health.
